

KILLED BY CHUM

Grover Dodson Shot By Charles Teeters at Hopewell

BOTH MEN WERE DRINKING

And Pool Room is Scene of Tragedy Which Occurred Wednesday Night at 9:30 O'clock.

Benjamin Grover Dodson was shot and instantly killed at Hopewell by Charles Teeters, while in Barnett's pool room Wednesday night about 9:30 o'clock.

As far as we have been able to learn, the facts in the case are as follows: Dodson and Teeters were chums, and along with some others Wednesday morning received a keg of beer and were drinking during the day up until the tragedy occurred. Teeters had a revolver and was displaying it in the pool room, eventually unbreaching it and, he says, thought he took all the cartridges out of the cylinder, when Dodson said to him: "Shoot me now, Doc." Teeters raised the revolver and leveled it at Dodson, revolving the cylinder until it came to a chamber containing a cartridge and fired, the bullet striking Dodson just below the left eye, killing him instantly. Teeters was arrested and is confined in the Hopewell lockup, awaiting the verdict of the coroner's jury.

Both were 28 years of age, were miners and worked in the Langdon-shaft.

The murdered man was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Abram Dodson of Hopewell, and is a nephew of Deputy Sheriff Andrew Dodson of this place. Besides his father and mother he is survived by four brothers and two sisters.

The funeral will be held in the Hopewell M. E. Church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Just as going to press we learn that District Attorney D. C. Reilly and Sheriff Grant Dodson have returned from the scene of the tragedy having obtained enough evidence to bring a charge of manslaughter against the young man who did the shooting. He was brought to Bedford and is now confined in the county jail for trial at the April sessions of court.

George Edward Waddell, the famous "Rube," as he was known wherever baseball is played, died at a sanitarium at San Antonio, Texas, Wednesday, a victim of tuberculosis, after a long fight for life. Waddell, once one of the greatest of baseball pitchers, went to West Texas four months ago, already weakened by pulmonary trouble, but buoyant and hopeful that a few months would see him restored to health and "back in the game." He located on a ranch near Boerne, but instead of improving his strength grew weaker from day to day, until his condition became so serious last month that he was taken to a sanitarium.

Some More Bargains

Last Saturday's horse sale, conducted by Liveryman Ross A. Stiver, was largely attended by buyers from all sections of the county as well as from adjoining counties. A large number of horses were "knocked down" at bargain prices, but owing to the inclemency of the weather, the buggies, wagons, etc., as advertised, were not offered.

Mr. Stiver has announced another sale for Saturday, April 11, at 10 o'clock a. m., when 50 or more horses will be sold at the public's prices. Some of the horses to be sold are pacers and trotters with good records. A span of mules weighing 2,200 pounds are among the list, as well as some good buggies, wagons, harness, etc. Don't forget the date, Saturday, April 11, and for full particulars see large posters or the ad on the 7th page of this paper.

WILSON Praised by Ministers

Temperance Leader Pays a Fine Tribute to the Nation's President.

President Woodrow Wilson and Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan were warmly praised and roundly cheered by the Methodist ministers of the Philadelphia Conference in session at Pottstown recently. Rev. Clarence True Wilson of Topeka, Kas., representing the Methodist Temperance Society, delivered the eulogy of President Taft.

In discussing the course of the Webb bill before Congress and its veto by the then President Taft, Dr. Wilson said:

"We had then in the White House an administration which was allied with the three greatest forces for evil in this country, a foreign hierarchy, a Mormon machine and the organized liquor traffic. At the head of that administration was a man who was inaugurated in a blizzard, defeated in an avalanche, and put out of business by a head-on collision with the water wagon. Thank God we now have a Christian man in the White House with an administration of civic decency, and we haven't quite recovered from the shock of the change. When President Wilson came to select the Secretary of State, he had the courage to select the most determined, frank, open and confirmed foe the liquor traffic has in the country. When it came time for him to entertain the representatives of foreign government he went back to the days of the Bible and served the same beverage that was used at the Paschal supper. When criticism arose, it gave him the opportunity for a temperance speech which was heard around the world, and today Bryan's grape juice and Mayor Williams' lemonade are as popular as Kansas buttermilk."

Mr. Wilson's references to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan were marked by almost continuous applause and cries of "Go to it," "Give it to 'em," "That's true," and "God bless them."

The Land of Opportunity

Six years ago Woodrow Wilson was president of Princeton College and unknown even by name to a very large proportion of American voters. His interest in politics had been chiefly of an academic character, and had not gone beyond a few addresses to Democratic clubs pointing out the way for a return of the much demoralized party to power. At that time, with Rooseveltism in full swing among Republicans, nothing seemed more unlikely than that the Democrats would ever come into their own again. Mr. Wilson's election as Governor of New Jersey, his excellent record in that office, his keen grasp of the opportunities offered by the Republican disaffection in 1912, his election as President, and his remarkable achievements since as a constructive statesman and party leader are all matters so fresh in the public mind that it is needless to recount them.

To a believer in American institutions the record is an inspiring one. It inevitably suggests the thought that in this broad land of ours there are not a few such capable men, filling their appointed posts in life with honor to themselves and great benefit to their communities, and ready, if any great national crisis should present itself, to come to the front as leaders of the republic. It shows that, notwithstanding much pessimistic talk, this is still the country of great opportunities, for the first-class man in politics no less than for the inventor, the financier, the manufacturer, the doctor, the lawyer, the keen man of business—in fact, for everybody who tries by hard and honest work to carve out a career himself. To young America of today the career of the President of the United States should be a constant inspiration.—Philadelphia Record.

WANAMAKER PRAISES WILSON

Calls President's Mexican Policy "Skillful and Heroic."

Philadelphia, March 24.—Political fire eaters, who are attempting to make political capital by stirring up trouble for the President in dealing with Mexico, were vigorously denounced today by John Wanamaker, one of the greatest merchants of the country, a stalwart Republican, and former Postmaster General. In his remarks at the dedication of the new Manufacturers' Club here, Mr. Wanamaker highly praised the President's Mexican policy in these words:

"It is the business of some men to get up wars. It is said that a dozen men brought on the Boer War. It would be worth a lot to many contractors and speculators on the Stock Exchange to foment a war with Mexico. But thus far our President—yours as well as mine—heroically and skillfully has headed off the war for a whole year. Do not heed his defamers. So long as his head is on his shoulders, he never will be a coward or a shirk. Let us stop looking every day for telegrams and cables about Mexico, and get down to our individual work to make the good times we talk so much about."

Mr. Wanamaker's address, including his remarks on the administration's Mexican policy, was constantly punctuated with applause.

STIMULATES GOOD ROADS

Lincoln Highway Will Benefit Communities Off Official Route.

The stimulus given the good roads movement generally by the planning and establishing of the Lincoln Highway across the country, and particularly the building of permanent instead of makeshift roads is strikingly illustrated in Winona County, Minnesota.

In a letter to A. R. Pardington, Vice President of the Lincoln Highway Association, George W. Cooley, state engineer and member of the State Highway Commission, states that contracts have been let for 16 miles of road in Winona County and surveys and plans have been made for 62 more miles. The roads are to be either concrete or brick on concrete, the hard surfacing being eight feet in width and having shoulders of macadam or gravel four feet wide on each side, making the entire width 16 feet.

CLEAN OUT BREEDING SPOTS

This is the Best and Safest Way to Go After Mosquitoes and Flies.

Fumigation as a means to exterminate hibernating mosquitoes and other insects is not favored by Prof. H. A. Surface, State Economic Zoologist, Harrisburg, especially by boys or other inexperienced persons. Cleaning out the breeding places of such pests is much better. Doctor Surface's views are set forth in a letter which he wrote to the Doylestown Nature Club, which has joined hands with the Doylestown Boys' Brigade in an effort to get rid of such nuisances as the fly and mosquito. Doctor Surface says:

"Concerning fumigation to kill mosquitoes, this work is too dangerous to be entrusted to boys, unless they have some older skilled and practical person with them. By means of pyrethrum powder and other materials mixed together, the pests can be stupefied, especially when such preparations are burned in the rooms they inhabit, but in most cases they will not be killed, and should be swept and thrown into a fire. There is but one material in which I have absolute confidence, and this is hydrocyanic acid gas. It is very deadly, as such a thing must be to produce the desired results. You must understand that one cannot safely handle materials strong enough to generate gas to kill insects without being in danger from them himself. Hydrocyanic acid gas will kill all insects, mice, rats, etc., in the house, and is especially good to clean out bed bugs. I have published directions for its use, and am willing to send them free to those who are interested, but it must be emphasized that it is a dangerous proceeding for a person who is not able to follow directions with care. It is not best to let the boys try it. I do not think it safe to fumigate a cellar, for example, and inhabit the room immediately above it at the same time. This gas rises instead of falls. Also, it is more difficult to ventilate cellars with safety.

"It is far better to treat the fly and mosquito nuisances by absolute cleanliness as to pig pens, poultry houses, stables, etc., for destroying breeding places of the fly, and drainage and oil on pools, and other quiet waters, to destroy the breeding places of the mosquitoes. Rain water barrels, old buckets, tin cans, etc., left on dump heaps or around the premises, and also unscreened cisterns, make breeding places enough to infest the entire neighborhood. Let the boys turn their attention to the breeding places of these pests. This will be much less expensive and dangerous than to attempt to destroy them in houses during winter."

THE REASON FEWER PEOPLE TAKE "SALTS"

We find the use of salts and other harsh physics is becoming less every year because more and more people are using Rexall Orderlies, which we and they firmly believe to be the best bowel remedy ever made. They taste so much like candy that even the children like them. At the same time they act so easily and naturally that there is no purging, griping or pain. They promptly remove the constipation and, by soothing and strengthening the bowels, make it less liable to occur again. We have the utmost faith in them. We know what they are made of and the pleasant, beneficial results that always follow their use.

You needn't take our word for it. If Rexall Orderlies don't help you—if they don't entirely relieve all your bowel troubles—come back and tell us and we'll give back your money. In vest pocket tin boxes; 10c, 25c, 50c.

You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores, and in this town only of us.—F. W. Jordan, Jr., Bedford, Pa.—Adv.

Poor Blood is Responsible for much sickness and suffering because its quality determines our resistive power. With poor blood we are languid, susceptible to colds, lack natural energy and ambition, and the gradual decline of strength makes prompt and careful treatment necessary. Drugs or alcohol cannot make blood and must be avoided.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is nature's grandest blood-maker because of its wholesome medical nourishment, so carefully predigested that it assimilates without taxing digestion and quickly increases the red corpuscles of the blood, strengthens the organs and tissues and rebuilds the whole system.

FORMER BEDFORD COUNTY

Praises A. C. Richards for Views on Rural Schools.

Floodwood, Minn., March 23, 1914. Editor of the Bedford Gazette:

The Bedford papers bring pleasant recollections. This week especially the article of A. C. Richards in The Gazette and of Andrew Boss in the Inquirer.

Mr. Boss, or Prof. Boss as we know him out here, is a close friend of mine, having been my instructor in Farm Management a few years ago while I was a student in the Minnesota College of Agriculture. In stature he somewhat resembles your present County Superintendent, Prof. V. E. P. Barkman. He is a farmer's son and knows work from experience. He is not a flowery conversationalist but studies his subject and talks to the point. He has just published a "Farm Records and Accounts" which is an up-to-date method for the ordinary farmer and should be in the home of every up-to-date farmer.

Mr. Richards' article, in my imagination, takes me up the "Old Brad-dock Road," or Pittsburgh pike, to Schellsburg, thence across Chestnut Ridge towards the foothills of the Alleghenies to the old pebble-dashed house on the Anthony Smith farm. This house stands at the cross roads, on the bank of the Shawnee Creek, a branch of the Blue Juniata. In youth many days I spent at this place, the home of my grandfather, wading in the stream, playing around the old tannery, or roaming o'er the hills back of the house looking for that Indian arrow heads. These naturally aroused curiosity in Indians and adventure and with later reading culminated in my spending some time upon Indian reservations in Western States. The Hoovers, Richards, Dennisons, Blackburns, etc., were all familiar names at that time and are still.

Little then did those people think that one of their number, better known as Abner, now A. C. Richards, would sound the tocsin for better rural education in Bedford County. Shake hands, Mr. Richards, permit me to congratulate you on your article. You speak the truth and sound the key note by demanding Agriculture and Industrial work in the public schools. Now add consolidation of rural schools and make the school a social center and you will have the full chord. Then sing it with the farmers and teachers until it is a reality in all rural schools of Bedford County and a part of each child. I believe the adjoining counties will join in the chorus and your boys and girls will cease to leave the farm.

I believe this lack of rural agricultural and industrial work in the rural schools of Pennsylvania is due partly and primarily to the rough physical condition of the surface, and second to the vast mineral wealth. The fertile western prairies with their rich deep soil and easy tillage have drawn hosts away who were interested in agriculture. The coal, oil, gas, and iron aided in the development of commercial centers and factories where labor was needed and well paid for. Hence as Mr. Cessna some time ago implied, there has been an exit of boys from the farms. Innumerable cities and towns have sprung up and industrial and trade schools have developed with them. They were plentiful and these centers naturally took the best teachers who turned their time and energy to furnishing city requirements.

In the rural districts money was not so plentiful, teachers' wages low, the school term short, school buildings poor and ill equipped; the teacher stayed only long enough to work up to a better position in the nearby city, to get married, or to go into some other line of work. Consequently these communities have either been training centers for inexperienced teachers, or had to take the failures that the larger towns and cities would not accept. Teaching was made a stepping stone to the better paid positions in the cities. The vision was directed toward the cities. Can you blame the boys for wanting to go? And many profited by going.

On the other hand the teacher may have lacked the necessary training. Did not sometimes, faithful and conscientious work escape notice, and the next year, be followed by a director's niece or daughter? (Thanks to the "New School Code" and section 1207.) Sometimes the teacher had been "off to school in the city" for a year or so. She smiled on the city "chap," aped the city styles, talked about the city schools, stores, movies, shops, theaters, offices, etc., and never once mentioned the advantages of the country or the disadvantages of the city. Often the boys were told to shun manual work, study hard and become a doctor, lawyer, preacher or clerk.

Then how about the school building and the relation between the boy and the father? Frequently the building is the one where his father and grandfather went to school, only a new floor has been put in, the seats changed, the roof repaired, a shield placed around the stove, and a few coats of red, brown or yellow paint added from time to time. The playground is as barren as the public road and often a pasture for stray cattle. The parent has failed to make the boy a partner on the farm. Sometimes the boy may have been given a sickly lamb, a runty pig, or a half starved calf to care for, then the parent pocketed the proceeds as soon as the boy's nursing had made it of value. When this was the case could you blame John, or Joe, or Jim for wanting to go out West where the money grew on corn-stalks, or to the city where pleasure never ceased?

Blessings and peace to the little red schoolhouse for the good that it has done in the past. Thanks to the great Commonwealth for the minimum salary laws and the "New School Code." Shame to the man who advocates; "there is where I went to school and got my training, forty years ago, is John any better than I was?" Say old man, throw away your binder and go back to the cradle, junk your cream separator and go back to the crock and gravity system, sell that big red cow for twenty-three dollars cash. What? You say no? Times have changed. Thanks. Then apply the same to your son or your grandchild. The schools are changing too, and Pennsylvania is coming to her own. You need another Thaddeus Stephens.

Place a special school tax on your coal mined or iron manufactured, say a tonnage tax, and use this as a state aid to the rural schools throughout the State. It would slightly increase the cost of coal, and perhaps raise a commotion, but would pay in the end. Do you forget that for every ton of Minnesota ore or iron used in Pennsylvania means something to Minnesota schools. We use your coal but do we pay anything in proportion toward your schools?

Consolidate your schools. But do not make the mistake of trying to join town and country. Keep the rural consolidated school in the country if you want your boys at home. Pick up three or four or more of those little red school houses and build a good central well equipped school and transport your children to it. Do not always aim to make it a high school. Employ better teachers and demand of your Normal Schools and Agricultural College, men who know farm life and are in love with it. Then pay them sufficient so they will not be tempted to look towards the city, and put them at the head of your rural consolidated schools. When you get a good man, keep him so long as he does his work well. Do the same with the grade teachers and employ well trained country girls in this capacity.

CONFIRMED PROOF

Residents of Bedford Cannot Doubt What Has Been Twice Proved.

In gratitude for complete relief from aches and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of this vicinity who so testified years ago, now say the results were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Bedford kidney sufferers.

Otto Henschke, First Ave., Hyndman, Pa., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills on several occasions for lame back and other kidney disorders and they have never failed to give me relief. Some years ago one of my family publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills in my behalf and at this time, I am pleased to confirm that statement. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy I ever took for kidney disorders."

SERIOUS CATARRH YIELDS TO HYOMEL

You Breathe It

Be wise in time and use Hyomel at the first symptom of catarrh, such as frequent head colds, constant sniffing, raising of mucus, or droppings in the throat. Do not let the disease become deep-seated and you are in danger of a serious if not fatal ailment.

There is no other treatment for catarrh, head colds, etc., like the Hyomel method, none just as good, so easy and pleasant to use, or that gives such quick, sure, and lasting relief. You breathe it—no stomach dosing. F. W. Jordan, Jr., will refund your money if you are not benefited.

Try Hyomel at once and see how quickly it clears the head, stops the sniffing, and banishes catarrh. Hyomel helps you to enjoy good health. All druggists sell it. Ask for the complete outfit—$1.00.—Adv. 3-27-2

You say you cannot consolidate? Why? If it is money where is your natural resource tax? The hills and mountain barriers? Well that is true but do not expect to make the schools all alike. Do not play the fox in the manger game. Perhaps a few small schools are isolated. Consolidate wherever possible. The West, in many places, is sparsely settled, dotted here and there with sand-piles, swamps, lakes, ravines, etc. Pennsylvania has three times as many people on half the territory as Minnesota. Yet Minnesota has over 89 consolidated rural schools of from two to ten teachers, and she has only started. Indiana leads, Iowa is a close second, and other states are working along this line.

And now just a word as to the course of study. You must eliminate, revise, boil down, and add. Do not make the change too rational nor expect a city chap to arouse lasting enthusiasm in field, orchard, or garden crops, wood work or farm smithing. You can't depend on the Agricultural text books published. This is a transitional period in text book making. Many are writing who are not yet acquainted with their subjects or lacking in experience. What is a good book in one community may be a failure in another.

Many things that boys are interested in are: milk testing, soil acidity tests, capillary tests, testing seed corn, wheat, oats, garden seeds, spraying fruit trees, treating seed potatoes, making collections of various noxious weed seeds, adulterated alfalfa seed, being able to name the noxious weeds, making trap nests for hens, ladders, sleds, tables, model gates, ball bats, hammer handles, barns, houses, farm buildings, etc. Both boys and girls like home and school gardens, corn, poultry, potato, grain, and garden contests. Girls like sewing, drafting patterns, textiles, cooking, canning, baking, etc.

If space permitted, would like to say more about consolidation, manual training, domestic science, agriculture in schools, the school fair, the school as a social center, boys contests, girls contests, etc., but must close for the present.

Franklin A. Arnold.

Funny Sight

I saw a cow-hide in the grass,
A rush-light on the floor;
I saw a candle-stick in mud,
And bell-pull at a door.
I saw a horse-fly up a creek,
A cat-nip at her food;
I saw a chestnut-burr, and heard
A shell-bark in the wood.
I saw a jack-plane off a board,
A car-spring off the track;
I saw a saw-dust off the floor,
And then a carpet-tack.
I saw a monkey-wrench a hat
From a fair lady's pate,
I saw a rattle-snake a bird,
And hogs-head on a plate.
I saw a brandy-smash a glass,
I saw a shooting-star;
I've heard the corns-talk in the field,
And pig iron crow-bar.
I saw a pin-wheel off a post,
And wheel-wright in a shop,
I saw a gin-sling on a bar;
And saw a ginger-pop.
I saw a house-fly o'er a field,
I saw an ox-roast too;
I saw a shad-roe and clam-bake,
And saw a chicken-stew;
I saw a sword-fish from a bank,
I heard the water-spout;
I saw tobacco-spit, and then
I heard an eye-bawl out.
I heard a fence-rail at the din,
I heard a waist-band play
A lovely strain—a sweet spit-toon—
And then I went away.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY

Sentiment Grows in Every State Through Which it Passes.

Delphos, O., March 30.—H. C. Ostermann, consul-at-large of the Lincoln Highway Association, told an enthusiastic gathering of business men in the Commercial Club rooms here of the remarkable progress made by the Lincoln Highway in its work of improving this transcontinental thoroughfare, established and placed on the map only a few months ago.

Mr. Ostermann laid particular stress on the great benefits the local communities would derive. It is estimated that fully 25,000 automobiles will tour California in 1915 and that four-fifths of them will go from east of the Mississippi River. He said that if the number was only 5,000 the amount spent along the route would total $6,573,000. Delphos being on this road will receive its share of benefits.

In various sections of Ohio farmers' organizations are being formed, the object being to promote the beautifying of their farms along the road. At Mansfield the business men's organization is placing signs and funds have been raised to build three miles of the road. The route has been marked from Galion to Bucyrus and at Nevada members of the branch association have marked 28 miles of road. Bucyrus business men will improve one mile of road near that city, and signs will be placed. The people of Dunkirk and Ada are also active. Like conditions exist in other States. Mr. Ostermann gave his opinion that not only the cities and towns along the route would be benefited but that the farm property on the Lincoln Highway would increase in value, thus benefiting the farmers in a financial way as well as giving them an improved road.

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 3, 1914.

In Altoona the Board of Trade has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant the increased freight rates asked by the eastern railroads.

Steelton is spending between two and three millions of dollars to enlarge and better equip its steel plants. Prosperity peeping through there.

The Cornwall and Lebanon Railroad, an adjunct of the Pennsylvania, has announced a raise of ten per cent. for its employees. The query is: Why do they advance wages one place and turn people out at another?

Judge Thomas J. Baldrige, March 30, held that the act establishing a County Controller in Blair County was constitutional and authorized the County Commissioners to recognize William Tobias, formerly of Everett, as the lawful "heir to the throne." Mr. Tobias is a hustling Everett lad and deserves congratulations from Bedford County.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has suspended about 2,000 employees at Altoona. There are many rumors abroad concerning these suspensions. Some think that Senator Penrose is behind it in order to roll up influence for his nomination. Others say the road wants to break up a union there and others say that the object is to retire old employees who will come into the pension limits in a year or so. Whatever the purpose, it has as a final result, the breadless table, the shoeless child and the desolate mother.

Penrose will be the next Republican nominee for United States Senator. These office holders are not called to Philadelphia for a friendly chat. It means that they are to get to work and they are too, and since the call you seldom hear of Dimmick. Penrose can put the clamps on the jaws of Republicans who oppose him about as tight as any man in history. It is only for Republicans to get wise and save their heads for Penrose is going to be the nominee. Dimmick and his friends made a little breeze but it was woefully unequal to the anti-trade wind which blew from Philadelphia. It will be Palmer, Pinchot and Penrose, these three and the greatest of these is Palmer.

Know Paint

There's a paint-education in this advertisement.

Buy by the job, not gallon. Buy by the paint put-out; that's the job.

The price of paint is so much a gallon, that can't be helped, but amounts to nothing.

The price of painting is so much a day; that can't be helped, but amounts to nothing.

Put them together. How can you do it? You've got to or lose perhaps half of your money.

Devoe, 10 gallons enough for the average job; an average paint, 15. Now reckon your costs. Count labor a day for a gallon. Devoe 10 days; the other 15.

Devoe about $50; the average paint about $70 or $80, the dearer the labor the bigger the difference, always that way.

But that's for the job. How long is it going to last? One twice as long as the other.

SNOOZERS ARE LOSERS.

There are some folks that love to lie in bed most of the day,
And thus the better part of life
These sleepers waste away.
But I'm the kind that likes to see
The sun rise over the hills,
And cover everything with gold
And all with glory fill.

It is then the birds sing sweetest;
It is then the lovely flowers
Cast the most bewitching perfumes
From their dewy, sun-kissed bowers;
It is then God's peace seems round me
In the blossom-scented air
And I see the God of nature
And his glory everywhere.

"Life is real, and life is earnest,"
And it was not made for sleep,
And there now are sleeping virgins
Who will later wake to weep.
They who give their days to sleeping
And their nights to revelry
Are but burying their talents
As the precious moments flee.

"Life is real, and life is earnest,"
And each has his part to do,
And if you use life for sleeping
Who will do your work for you?
Day for work, and night for resting.
Even then our time is short
To fulfill the task assigned us
And achieve a good report.
C. M. BARNITZ.

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q.—I note the name "Shakebag" is given by cockfighters to a large species of game. Why the name? A.—The Giant or Herculean game was called shakebag because at a main it was customary to shake them out of a bag into the cockpit and thus no trickery could give the one an advantage over the other. Q.—A butcher has kindly offered me fresh blood to feed my hens. Is it all right to feed raw in the mash, or must it be prepared in some way? A.—It should be boiled in a sack and not much should be fed at a time. Q.—What makes a hen bag down behind? A.—Overfat generally. The muscles break down. They can't hold up her fat body bustle. Q.—Do you consider broken glass good grit for poultry? A.—No. It punctures the digestive organs. Q.—I have a cock bird that bullies the hens and will not let them eat. How can I stop this? A.—Put another rooster in the coop and let him lick the brute. As with humans, he will then go to the hens for sympathy. Q.—How may I distinguish sex in geese? A.—The gander has more rubber neck and is large and coarse, while the goose gabbles much in a voice loud and coarse. Q.—What is a poult and a keet? A.—A young turkey, a young guinea.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

The cold storage law of Pennsylvania requires that stored eggs be kept no longer than eight months. To defeat this the egg gamblers withdrew eggs from storage and then entered them again as new fresh eggs; 32,000 crates, thirty dozen to the crate, were thus changed in Philadelphia alone. As hens do not lay so plentifully in winter and egg gamblers are not in the habit of paying the price of fresh winter eggs it shouldn't be a hard job for the state detectives to catch the swindlers. Congress also is investigating this matter. No less than twelve bills in quick succession were introduced demanding that the department of justice investigate the cold storage business on account of the high price of winter eggs. We are glad to see the investigators headed the right way and the public no longer blaming the hen or the egg producer, but the food gamblers.

All the poultry geniuses are not on big plants nor the poultry papers. Not by a jugful! Many of the best managed and best paying flocks are on farms and town lots, where there are big results, but no horn blowing.

Poultry lectures at farmers' institutes command a fine hearing and in most sections are the most popular, the women especially turning out en masse to hear them. This is certainly encouraging to those who are striving to improve farm poultry.

An Indiana poultryman spent $5,000 on his annual catalogue and as much more on general advertising, and his sales of stocks, chicks and eggs for that season were over $50,000. Others may have just as good stock, but fail to realize because they fail to advertise.

Many big city papers now give a special page a week to poultry. These editors see the importance of the vast poultry industry and wish to help the town lot hen man as well as the farmer. Their efforts are reciprocated, for the poultry articles draw much poultry advertising and new subscribers. Some editors, however, do not observe the signs of the times, print no poultry information and lose accordingly.

We have visited numerous poultry plants where we were asked to figure out why the pens were damp. We found in some plants that the litter was too thin and not renewed often enough. In others the dirt floors were wet from the moisture of droppings or poor outside drainage, and of course wet the straw and affected the air.

There are other uses for a bone cutter besides cutting green bone. Dry bones may be cut up for fertilizer and vegetables sliced for the chickens and cattle. When there is soft green corn it may be cut up, cob and all, and fed, thus it is saved from molding.

This is the season when canker appears, and it is not difficult to cure if taken early. The growth should be gently removed and peroxide of hydrogen applied, and after a few applications the trouble disappears.

The county commissioners of Spokane count Wash appropriated $250 toward the "Christie" exhibition of the Int. Soc. for Pure and Pet Stock and other exhibition.

HECKERMAN LETTER

"Dad" Writes Interesting Letter From the Sunny South.

Staunton, Va., April 1.—This is beyond doubt the Queen City of the Shenandoah Valley and one of the garden spots, situated among the Blue Ridge and Allegheny Mountains. 'Tis a great educational as well as a financial centre. In fact this is a God blessed and sun kissed section of God's domain where a hearty welcome awaits the stranger at her gates. 'Twas only three squares from where I am now sitting that there was some sort of a cave in that I wrote you about several years ago. The place has long since been filled up and houses erected on the very spot and I have never learned the cause of the cave in.

This, unlike most manufacturing cities, is in no way dependent for its progress upon any artificial stimulus. The closing down of a manufactory does not seem to effect its prosperity, as its financial institutions are among the strongest in the State. There is no city in the country that offers the home seeker more and greater facilities to win out, if they are industrious and capable. There is no army of unemployed here that I have been able to see. 'Tis said that Staunton is not only proud of what it has been but of its progressiveness. To me no warmer hearted, generous and more hospitable people are to be found than those who live in Staunton. Great hospitality is no myth here. 'Tis here that the stranger whether from the north, east or west is made as welcome as can be. All they ask is he honest, upright and straightforward in his ways. There is a very large electric sign near the C. and O. depot, one that everyone sees, reading "Come to Staunton, no saloons here, no booze sold here."

Fruit growing in Augusta County on a large scale is already among its largest and most profitable industries and the future is bright with brighter prospects to come. The largest fruit company is the Old Dominion Orchards Company with office here in Staunton. This company is the owner of three of the largest and most productive orchards in the country in which they have planted 22,000 apple and 17,000 peach trees. One of their orchards has 380 acres, another 277 acres whilst the third has only 125 acres. Some orchards, I tell you.

We have here two hotels of note—the Virginia and the Augusta. Now the Augusta is where I always stop. It is owned and operated by Mr. Ware. We all know that there is no better criterion to go by as to the hotels in a city than to watch where the traveling men go. They, as a rule, congregate where there are social rules, which will make their stay in said city most pleasant. 'Tis true that a dead town never supports a live hotel. This man Ware has been connected with hotel life almost all his days. At one time he was clerk here in the Augusta. In those days it was called the Eakleton and many of the traveling men even then came here because of the social call given them by Mr. Ware.

Then there was a new and commodious hotel built across the street and he was offered the management of it. This he accepted and took charge of the new place. The boys almost all left the old Eakleton and went with Ware. In fact so many did so that the Eakleton could not hold its head up and failed. Then it was overhauled and Ware made manager. Then the boys all left the new place and flocked back to the hostelry operated by this same Mr. Ware. The Augusta Hotel could not be better located as to railroads than it is, being midway between the B. & O. and C. & O. and only one square from the court house. Mr. Ware is a living example of the old adage that hotel men are born, not made.

Staunton is, however, an unusually healthy city and I should think a glorious place in which to cast your lot and live your allotted time. One sees more active young men about 75 in business here than in any other city. The elevation is 300 feet higher than Bedford. Now what is the altitude of the dear old town? Staunton, I am told, has the largest reed organ manufactory in the world.

Please send me The Gazette to Norton, Va., care General Delivery, and much oblige,

Yours truly,
M. P. Heckerman.

THE QUICK LUNCH

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D.

In every town and village you may behold staring at you in the day time and emblazoned in electric lights at night, the words Quick Lunch.

The Quick Lunch is distinctly an American institution and one of which we have no reason to be proud. To the German, the Englishman or the Frenchman the American habit of consuming food as if in a perpetual race against time, is regarded as a barbarous custom.

As eating is essential to living it is well to consider it as deserving of attention and not treat the demand of our stomachs as if it were an impertinent request to be answered curtly. If the mind is concentrated upon business or other matters, the digestion suffers. Devote your attention during meals to gratifying your palate by the flavor of the food eaten. This gives a decided stimulus to digestion. Excessive sweetening or the use of condiments is too often used to replace the lack of true flavor or disguise the unappetizing condition of the food served.

The comparatively limited list of viands which are customarily available in these temples of indigestion seem for the most part to be chosen with one primary purpose in view—their speedy consumption. Pastries or fried foods seem to be chiefly in demand. These are generally washed down with ice water or other liquid which during the summer months is usually cold enough to paralyze digestion.

For the average worker the period between the morning and the evening meal is from 10 to 11 hours. The body needs nourishment to maintain physical or mental activity. Pastries contain but small percentage of nourishment. Coffee and tea are stimulants purge and simple. Fried food may almost be considered a national menace.

When you go to lunch take YOUR time to eat. Let the roar of the hungry multitude around you and the harried waiters leave you undisturbed. The profit of the proprietor is in the quickness with which you consume your lunch and make way for another customer. You will profit individually by taking a reasonable length of time to enjoy your food and stimulate the digestive glands.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

When My Work is Done
When alone I sit in sadness
And my work for the day is o'er,
I think of the dear old friends of mine;
Who have gone to the other shore.
I can see their smiling faces,
Through the bright though distant light,
I can hear their solemn plea for me;
To always do the right.
Though my feet have often slipped aside

From the straight and narrow way,
Still my Master will always atone for me

And I ever can hear Him say,
Come unto Me ye weary

And rest to thee will I give,
On the cross I died that you my son,
Remote from sin might live.

And now when I think of that promise made

For a sinner like you and me,
I know He will smile on my friends above

And continue to answer their plea.
While now I think of His great love,
I know there is work foretold,
For labor of God's children is never o'er

Till they've brought His sheep to the fold.
Right out to the streets of sin will I go,

No, no I cannot wait
For the darkness with evil is coming on;

And then it will be too late.
As a shepherd led his flocks of old,
To the fold from paths of sin,
I will seek out the sheep in this world of shame

And endeavor to gather them in.
And then when I to my loved ones go;

When the battle of life is won,
And the Master will but smile on me
I will know that my work is done.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Emanuel Beegle of Colerain Township Passes the 85th Milestone.

A remarkable and most interesting event took place at the home of Emanuel Beegle of Friend's Cove on Thursday, March 26. It was the 85th anniversary of the venerable gentleman who is widely known in this part of Bedford County. He was born in Friend's Cove where he has lived all these years except two or three which he spent in Cumberland Valley. Realizing that he had reached a ripe old age and conscious of the fact that, according to nature, he could not live many more years, he thought it would not only be pleasant but profitable to himself, family, friends and neighbors to celebrate his 85th birthday. So he invited a large number of persons to come to his home Thursday morning, March 26, to help him celebrate his four-score and five years, at the old homestead where he has lived fifty years or more. The day was delightful in more ways than one. The sun shone beautifully all day shedding her rays of light and heat upon the assembled guests, making glad the hearts of all persons present. And best of all, sunshine of a social and religious nature was dispersed in smiles, good will and Christian fellowship by the guests to the host of the occasion.

I am confident that the sixty-three persons present will bear me out in the statement I now make regarding "Father Beegle's" appreciation of the celebration of his birthday. He was young in spirit, light at heart, and full of joy because of the kind and courteous spirit manifested toward him by the assembled guests. In the midst of the joys common on such an occasion, a sumptuous dinner was served of a delicious, nutritious and satisfying character to the physical man. All did justice to themselves and were perfectly delighted over the festivities of the hour. Then followed the social hour in which everybody present participated freely and heartily which added greatly in making the day one of joy and gladness.

And last, but not least, on this canvas of social joy and interest we had the privilege of seeing Grandfather Beegle sitting to have his photo taken. Then he desired a photo of four generations taken upon one card, consisting of Shannon, his son, Lester, his grandson, and Clair his great-grandson. And then naturally speaking he thought it would be pleasant to have a photo of his own children, including himself, upon one card: Shannon Beegle, Sarah Fickes, Mary Naugle and Anna Bowser. And lastly a group of all was taken, which ended the picture part of the social time.

The following persons were present on this occasion: Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Minemier, Emanuel Beegle, Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Beegle, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Beegle and son, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Knisely, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Kilcoin, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Naugle, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Fickes, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beegle and son Luther, Mr. and Mrs. William Mowery, Mr. and Mrs. William Kidd, Martin Diehl and son Paul, Ambrose Brightbill, Charles England, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Imier and two children, Harvey Beegle, William Snyder, Samuel Berkheimer and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Stayer.

The hour now come for the honored guests to go to their respective homes, having spent the day in a pleasant and profitable manner. I, in closing this article, am led to say that I believe I voice the sentiment of all the persons present on this occasion when I say that we all join in wishing Grandfather Beegle many more birthdays, and then when his days are numbered here on earth, we wish him a happy home in heaven above where friends meet never to say good-bye.

IMPORTANT TO ALL WOMEN READERS OF THIS PAPER

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

A good kidney medicine, possessing real healing and curative value, should be a blessing to thousands of nervous, over-worked women.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy will do for them. Every reader of this paper, who has not already tried it, by enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y., may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at all drug stores. Adv. Apr. 3-14

Lippincott's For April

The April Lippincott's has made its appearance. Crisp and breezy are its contents, full of the joyous zest characteristic of this season of growth. As usual there is a complete novel—a remarkable tale of France in the days of Madame du Barry. "The Presentation" is its title, and H. de Vere Stackpole, the author. There are many short stories and some exceptionally fine poetry in this number. The big humorous department, "Walnuts and Wine," is full of good things, and "Twentieth Century Travels," conducted by Churchill Williams, gives much valuable information to the motorist. The cave illustration is by Clarence Underwood.

For any itching skin trouble, piles, eczema, salt rheum, hives, itch, scald head, herpes, etc., Dean's Ointment is highly recommended. 50c a box at all drug stores.
